

Final Project

Sustainable Tourism Future

The focus of the final project is to make a current tourism practice or enterprise more resilient, regenerative, and sustainable. Using what you have learned in the course, create, or adapt a tourism experience that considers at least 5 of the module topics (e.g., SDGs, regenerative tourism, power, caring capacity...) that were covered in this course. Draw from the weekly formative assessment activities, as well as your independent research, to inform the shape and scope of your tourism experience.

COVER PAGE:

Include the name of your project, your name, the course number, your instructor's name, and the date of the deadline.

INTRODUCTION:

Present the tourism product/practice you are studying. Where will it be located? How does contribute to the mix of existing products? Why is it not sustainable/regenerative?

BACKGROUND:

Discuss the history of the problem and why it is important to change the current practice. Provide examples to reinforce your points. Ensure that your reader understands the problem and the terminology. Demonstrate to the reader that you understand the problem, have done the research, and have the expertise to present the solution.

PROPOSED SOLUTION:

Describe the tourism practice that you will be creating. Why is this new tourism product important in driving sustainable/regenerative tourism? How would it integrate into the existing product mix in the area? How feasible is this new project?

CONCLUSION:

Leave the reader with a strong final impression. Remember to restate the problem addressed in the paper, summarize your overall arguments, and provide key takeaways from your paper.

ADDITIONAL CRITERIA:

- Use concepts from at least five module topics covered in the course.
- Creativity/Originality – present a specific personal position that acknowledges the assumptions and limitations of the chosen position to a clearly formulated problem.
- Format: 8-10pg (excluding cover page and citations), double spaced, with proper APA citations.
