Pronoun Usage Guide

To be inclusive and respectful of gender diversity, use the gender-neutral pronoun set, they, them, theirs, when referring to any person whose pronouns you do not know until you have a chance to find out what they are.

“ Today we have a guest speaker coming in. They are an expert in marine biology. Please give them a warm welcome! ”

* Notice how gender binary pronouns are not important in this context. The meaning is not lost. By using gender neutral pronouns, you hold back on making assumptions about a person's gender based on your own perception of them.

If you have trouble remembering someone's pronouns, it is always best simply to ask for the reminder! It is also important to ask if you may use these pronouns in front of other people.

“ Hi Fae! How was your vacation? Can you remind me what your pronouns are again? ”

While it is normal to take practice when adopting a new habit, it is also important to demonstrate genuine effort. If you accidentally use the wrong pronoun when referring to someone, even if they are not present, simply correct yourself and commit to getting it right next time.

“ Did you hear that Fae wrote her own, sorry, I mean, their own play over the summer? Sh..They even wrote a score to go with it! ”

* Everyone makes mistakes, it is okay. After you have apologized, do not dwell on your mistake. Remember it is not the responsibility of the person you have misgendered to address your feelings about having slipped up.
